Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Report on the Preparation of Food The Great Exhibition of 1867 contributes certain facts to our stock of knowledge on the preparation of food which are well worth the attention of the public. It is not certain that in the modifications we will have to observe much improvement has been made in a hygienic point of view; we are inclined to believe, in fact, that they are rather gustatory than hygienic - rather for the palate than for assimilation and the creation of healthy blood. But they are nevertheless advances on old systems of preparation, and therefore demand a notice at our hands. Whatever is new, and especially whatever is likely to differ from modes of preparation in the United States, will naturally occupy the largest space in these observations. Cafe Restaurants. The Imperial Commission certainly had a happy thought in introducing cafe restaurants as an element of international competition. The realization has not in fact corresponded to the anticipations of the commission, for criticisms have not ceased to fall upon the project from the beginning to the end. The idea of giving the largest and most prominent place to the eating-houses was the first and most prominent point of attack, and one could not, indeed, at the first sight of an arrangement which spreads the kitchen out over the extended circumference, and hides the fine arts away in the contracted centre, refrain from an expression of astonishment at the plan of a temple of civilization which presents the stomach before the head. But the Imperial Commission comprehended better than their critics how much importance the majority of mankind give to the material necessities of...
