General Characteristics. --The second bottoms usually lie between the flood-plains on the one hand and the valley bluffs on the other, as shown diagrammatically in Fig. 2, p. 3. Where the valleys are narrow, as the Mississippi valley below Princeton and Cordova, the second bottoms are absent, or represented by very narrow benches (terraces) only. Where the valleys are broad, as the Mississippi valley above Clinton, the second bottoms may attain considerable width. They may occur on one or both sides of the river, and if present on both sides, they are usually of an UNIVERSITY OF equal width. In this region, the second bottoms of the main river valleys are continuous with level plains in the valleys, such as the Cattail and Meredosia-valleys, through...
