Pearce, of Maryland: On the Presentation of a Medal to Commodore Paulding, Delivered in the Senate of the United States, January 28, 1858 The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the joint resolution (S. No. 7) directing the presentation of a medal to Commodore Hiram Paulding; the pending question being on the amendment of Mr. Brown. Mr. Pearce. Mr. President, among the strange things to which I listened during the debate on this question, nothing surprised me more than the pertinacity with which it was denied that this was a military expedition by General William Walker. That denial has been repeated so often, and in the face of such testimony, that I cannot but call to mind a little work published by Archbishop Whately, entitled Historic doubts relative to Napoleon Bonaparte; a work in which that learned and ingenious prelate has adduced a variety of arguments founded on the rules of evidence, to show the improbability of the historic statements we have concerning the remarkable incidents in the history of that extraordinary man, and even of his existence. It is a facetious rebuke of those skeptical minds who are so hardened in incredulity that they reject all historic statements, however founded on evidence, which has met the almost universal credit of mankind. As a specimen of it, let me read a short passage: But what shall we say to the testimony of those who went to Plymouth on purpose, and saw Bonaparte with their own eyes? Must they not trust their senses? I would not disparage either the eye-sight or the veracity of these gentlemen....
